

THE ESSENTIALS OF PLANT ID CHALLENGE

Deadline: December 1, 2008

We're looking for about 20 exhibitors who are willing to have their booth (and plants) be a stop on the Plant ID Challenge tour.

Answering the call for a practical way to learn plant identification – this innovative learning experience at New England Grows combines classroom instruction with a self-guided, plant ID challenge on the tradeshow floor.

The classroom portion of this new educational experience will be held on Thursday, February 5 at 8:30 a.m. and there is space for up to 700 green industry professionals to participate. The Plant ID Challenge on the tradeshow floor is open to all New England Grows visitors.

If you're interested in having your company placed on the self-guided plant identification tour, please let us know. There is no charge to participate.

Thanks, in advance, for your help with this exciting educational opportunity!
